

The Carson Daily Appeal

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1913.

CARSON CITY:
WHAT we had to say yesterday morning relative to the running of the I. E. James, elicited prompt orders from Superintendent Yerington to the engineers in the employ of the company to exercise a greater degree of carefulness in future in passing the Carson street crossing. The facts relative to the interruption of the funeral procession on Tuesday, were, that the engineer, being temporarily away from his engine, it was, at the time indicated, in charge of the fireman—who, in his anxiety to get out of the way of the approaching cortege, and still tend to his switching, got confused, and thus came near having serious trouble. It is the intention of the Superintendent and all in authority about the Railway to conduct the frequently tedious and intricate business of switching to and from and about the freight depot, with as little trouble and hazard to the general public as possible, and while it would be unjust to intimate or believe that any engineer or other employee would do anything to hazard the lives and property under his charge or that may have need to be about the track, it is but fair toward all concerned to say that upon having his attention called to this narrow escape from accident Mr. Yerington made it very clearly known that any recurrence of such engine driving would cost the responsible party his position. In other words, every thing that can be done to avert a recurrence of such an unpleasant and threatening scene as that of Tuesday will be effected.

Rail's great hardware establishment has been receiving a winter supply of wares and merchandise of late. The comprehensiveness of this stock is simply immense. Literally, there is everything there, from a knitting needle to a crowbar and from a warning pan to a Medallion Range. Speaking of a Medallion Range, they fitted one out there yesterday in splendid style. The elegant tank, an immense tube of copper, looked like a piece of plate—so elegant are its proportions. Here is the Bazar for the frugal housewife, the mechanic, the monopolist, the Dolly Varden, the wily suburban, the Old Timer and the Granger. Here are the knives and forks and iron and tin and crockery and glassware for the housekeeper; here are all the tools and materials that the artisan may require in the pursuit of his calling; here are mouse traps and corn poppers; here the railway king may buy the stuff for his throne; here is the turpentine and benzine to feed the torch of the follower of Gabriel Varden's daughter Dolly; here is the conservative buck saw for the honest 49'er, and here are to be obtained the victorious horse-rake, the patriotic barrow, the philanthropic mowing-machine and the incorruptible plow for the Granger. All these things are to be sold at ruinously cheap prices—in proof of which consult Rail's new column advertisement in another place.

There is a good deal of diligent labor expended on the new proportions of the Episcopal church. We have, we think, chronicled the important fact of its complete and total shingling—if not, we herewith announce that pleasing circumstance. Some precise and careful weather-boarding was an incident of its external adornment, yesterday; and we note, with gratified eye, that the Gothic window frames are constructing and gradually going into place. All this is encouraging and commendable; but why it hath never entered the heart of priest or layman to build a decent bridge across the water course at the street corner there, we are at a loss to imagine. Such a structure might, if a heartless band of speculators were to engineer a corner on lumber, cost as much, labor and all, as three dollars; and yet the ditch crossing by which this house of God is approached from the north and east, and kindred points of the compass is a tempting of Providence—of a dark night. We once knew of a young lady whose charming shin was severely larked by a mis-step made there, "in sic a night in winter." Doubtless there have been other and like mishaps at that dismal ford. It should be substantially bridged, forthwith.

A CHANCE to get the appointment of a Cadetship at West Point is offered to some smart lad. Here is what the Chronicle of last evening says: We are authorized to announce that there is a vacancy in the United States Military Academy at West Point, to be filled from the Congressional District of the State of Nevada, and that an examination of competing applicants for the position will be held in this city within thirty or forty days (time to be fixed hereafter), by a Board of Examination, which will recommend the best applicant if he should be deemed qualified. All boys actually residing in the State, between the ages of seventeen and twenty-two, are requested to compete. Boys who served at least one year in the late war, and were honorably discharged, are by special provision of law eligible up to the age of twenty-four years—but no candidate who is less than five feet high can be admitted. More anon.

WORKMEN are pushing things ahead and preparing the roof of the new Kitzmeyer building for its covering of tin. Mr. Kitzmeyer intends to keep both establishments going for the present—the present stand and the up-town one, when completed.

It is certainly an encouraging thing to find an advertisement from the Warden of the State Prison setting forth his readiness to fill orders for boots made at the Penitentiary. It shows, plainly enough, that that expensive institution is doing something, or getting prepared to do something toward paying its way. Mr. Hyman, it seems to us, is doing great things down there. It is quite evident that he is the right sort of man to make the Prison self-sustaining. His course of improvement has been straight on. See his advertisement in another column.

Mr. CHAS. HARRIS is replenishing his stock of dry goods, carpets, ladies and children's boots and shoes, furs, cloaks, etc., by very large additions of choice wares in those several lines. These, we are assured, are not only first class goods, but laid down here on such favorable terms as enable Mr. Harris to sell them at prices ranging far below the usual prices for such merchandise. Our lady friends will bear this in mind when they next take up the line of march for a day's shopping.

U. S. MINT.—The coinage done at the Mint, yesterday, was fifty thousand dollars, of which $18,000 were coined in gold half eagles, $21,000 in gold eagles, and $11,000 in trade dollars. A shipment of eleven bars of "fine" silver was made to the credit of the Crown Point mine, Gold Hill, Nevada. The bars have an aggregate value of $22,000.

JUDGE WITHERELL made a flying trip to Genoa yesterday—not exactly flying, either, though he wouldn't need a very wide pair of wings to keep him up—but he went off to Genoa, and, probably, to the Springs. He needs a change of air after his sickness, and when he comes back we hope to see him looking more like a man capable of holding his own at the trenches.

Bois d'Arc, we are sorry to learn, is somewhat troubled with lameness. So Tump Winston tells us. But we are fain to believe that he will be all right for the match race on Sunday—anyhow, he will go unless lightning strikes him in the meantime—and it ain't a good time of year for overt electrical phenomena.

Mr. H. W. PATRICK, who comes here very highly recommended from some of the best known and most reliable houses in San Francisco, offers his services as a teacher of vocal and instrumental music. He is a young gentleman of very pleasing address and modest demeanor. He can be found at Fox's. See his advertisement in to-day's Appeal.

Judge Lewis put in an appearance here yesterday. He has but lately recovered from a severe fit of sickness. He owned up to a craving for a renewal of his residence in Carson.

"THE ARION" is to be the name of the Philharmonics. "The Glee Club," or "The Singing Society" would have been English and less like Arion of your blarsted Greek, you know.

JOHN G. FOX has betaken himself to San Francisco to make certain purchases looking to the approaching holidays.

It is a matter of judicial decision, at least that our colored fellow-citizens have certain rights which even railway conductors are bound to respect. Says the telegraph:

WASHINGTON, November 17. In the case of Catharine Brown (colored) against the Washington, Alexandria and Georgetown Railroad Company to recover damages for personal injuries, on being put out of the ladies' car, the Supreme Court to-day affirmed judgment for plaintiff, holding that the Court below had jurisdiction, and that the action was properly sustained against the company. This does not decide the general question of the right of railroad companies making regulations separating the races in their cars in the absence of charter provisions prohibiting it.

A CUBAN OFFICER is in Memphis trying to raise a colored regiment wherewith to help liberate the slaves there. They should take care that he don't get them where they can be sold into slavery.

LATEST TELEGRAMS.

New York, November 19.—The jury in the Tweed case this morning found a verdict of guilty on all the counts, the defense took exception to any verdict except a general verdict on all the counts but the jury were discharged. Consume, is endeavoring to obtain arrest of judgment on the ground of want of jurisdiction of the court. After an earnest and pathetic appeal by Graham, Saturday was fixed for argument on the question of arrest of judgment. Tremaine gave notice in moving for judgment that he would ask a separate term of imprisonment to be made on each one of the counts in the indictment. There are 204 counts in all. The court then adjourned, Tweed retiring in custody of the Sheriff. The Ingersoll case will be called next Monday. The verdict is much talked of in town, and of it every one has an opinion. Many exult, many express pity for the fallen chief. Before the verdict was given, Tweed had a smile and pleasant word for all who greeted him. After the verdict he seemed to prefer the society of his counsel. His youngest son, a mere boy, was with him in court to-day, as he has been during his two trials.

New York, November 19.—Owing to a statement contained in a letter from Havana that on the night of the 7th instant, when the news of the Virginians reached Santiago, the Spanish volunteers, in frenzied exultation over their triumph, visited the widows of Masons and shot and so brutally outraged the helpless women that in the struggle four were killed; seven have since died, and several were in such a dangerous condition that they cannot possibly recover. A petition is being circulated in this city and is being signed generally by Masters of Masonic Lodges in New York and Past Masters of Lodges residing here, calling for an emergency session of the Grand Lodge of the State to take such action as may be necessary. Similar action on the part of the Masonic Fraternity is being taken in New Jersey and Massachusetts.

San Francisco, Nov. 19.—J. F. Walker, late last night, came home and found another man, a sea captain, in his wife's bedroom. He whipped the captain, tipped over a coal oil lamp, set the house on fire, turned on the fire alarm, got seven steamers on the ground, and left, within the space of about ten minutes.

THE ANBURN MILLS.—S. O. Brown, Esq., has leased the Anburn Mill and expects to have the same ready to start up by the 1st of the coming month. Mr. Brown was the Assayer of the Nevada Land and Mining Company at the time J. J. Dunne was Superintendent of the mill. It is claimed for this mill that it is the most perfect establishment of its kind on the Pacific coast, with facilities for giving quicker returns with less loss than by any known process of reduction. Every resident of this State is interested in aiding every enterprise that tends to lessen the cost of working the rebellious ores which abound in our mining districts, and the Stratford furnace has thus far proved itself of more practical worth than any other which has been in general use in Nevada. The Anburn Mill is situated about a mile and a half in a northerly direction of the town of Reno, and has achieved such success in the reduction of base metal ores, that its name and fame has reached all parts of Nevada. The mill is owned by the Nevada Land and Mining Company—an out-and-out English incorporation—not a single share out of 30,000 being owned in the United States. We have every reason to believe that the new lessee, Mr. Brown, will maintain for the mill the good name it has always borne. The resumption of work by this establishment means the disbursement of over $3,000 per month in Reno. —Reno Journal.
